

Please do not force the State of New Jersey to change its current "Don't Call" policy to allow for more annoying phone calls. Since our law went into effect, my family and I have been enjoyed dinners with virtually no sales calls and it has been wonderful. Do NOT allow the telemarketing companies to intrude on my privacy. They should not be allowed to use any public telecommunications infrastructures to market to unwilling citizens (like me) who have already indicated that they do not want marketing calls. The FCC has spent quite a bit of time recently harassing the media about broadcasting what is considered by some to be questionable material.... I have the option of changing the channel if I don't like what I see but I have no option to turn off or change my telephone number when sales calls bother me. Stop wasting time and effort trying to decide what I can see and hear on radio and TV and start listening to what the public wants, which is clearly NOT to be disturbed by telemarketing calls.

Dave Souren